

The BirdChannel Newswire - December 17, 2008

Stay up-to-date with the latest bird news from all around the world.

Posted: December 17, 2008, 2:30 p.m. EDT

A New Study Shows Sleep Important To Song

Songbirds need their sleep to improve the neurological development required for their singing, similar to complex activities in humans, reports EurekAlert. Read More>>

A Community Gathers To Save A Wild Parrot

A parrot living in a tree fending off berries has people concerned as the weather grows colder, reports YourHub.com. Read More>>

1,500 Ring-Necked Parakeets Rescued From A Berlin Apartment

The owner had been collecting and breeding them, reports news.com.au. Read More>>