

The BirdChannel Newswire - April 15, 2009

Stay up-to-date with the latest bird news from around the world.

Posted: April 15, 2009, 9:15 p.m. EDT

A Study Revealed That Bird Appears To Recognize Human Gaze

The jackdaw reportedly altered its behavior depending on whether a person was looking in the direction of the experiment's target object, reports Biology News Net. Read More>>

Climate Change Forces Birds To Further Migration

Birds that migrate from Africa to Europe have to travel a greater distance due to climate changes, according to Stephen Willis, reports Google News. Read More>>

Three Environmental Groups File Claim With Federal Communications Commission

The National Audubon Society, among other groups filed a claim with the purpose to impact the FCCs' decision on cell phone towers causing deaths to migratory birds, reports EcoSpeak. Read More>>

First Annual Parrot Festival Hosted By Pets Of Wilshire

On April 18 and 19, 2009, a parrot festival will be hosted in Santa Monica, California, which will feature parrot flight demonstrations, parrot training and more, reports PR.com. Read More>>

Possible Salmonella Outbreak In Backyard Birdfeeders

Experts believe salmonella is spread by birds eating seeds that have dropped to the ground where other birds have defecated, reports NECN.com. Read More>>